

INDEX

To the Remarkable Passages in this Volume.

N. B. To find any particular Book, or Pamphlet, see the Table of Contents prefixed to the Volume.

A.

- ADDINGTON, Mr. his communication of the efficacy of mercurial muriate, or corrosive sublimate, in curing gonorrhœa, 42.
Egypt, some account of, by the late Lord Sandwich, 449; by Sonnini, 530.
Ague, a quartan, extraordinary case of, 46.
Anderson, Dr. James, memoirs of, 513.
Antichrist, application of the Scriptural texts relative to, 156.
Antiparus, Lord Sandwich's account of the famous grotto in this isle, 362.
Aristophanes, characteristic traits of, 240.
Aristotle, Dr. Enfield's account of, 103.
Armstrong, the late Dr. sketch of his life, by Dr. Aikin, 110.
Asiatic juridical records, their origin of doubtful date, 7. Extravagant claims of the Orientals as to their antiquity, number, &c. discussed and discredited, 7, 8.
Atmosphere of London, M. St. Fond's ingenious remarks on, 436.
Avatars, in the Oriental mythology, account of, 433.
Ayeen Acherry, some account of the, 8.

B.

- Bagpipe, effect produced on the minds of a Scotch auditory, by a competition of skill on that instrument, accounted for, 439.
Barry, Mr. his statement of the matters which occasioned his expulsion from the Royal Academy, 18.

- Beddoes, Dr. his ideas respecting the principles of medical science, the facts of hospital practice, and the duty of physicians in collecting and publishing new medical facts, 39. His new arrangement of chemical substances animadverted upon, 41. Suggests new prescriptions for disorders in the stomach, dropsy, and syphilis, 46. Discovers a native sulphate of strontiana, in Cumberland, ib. Treats on consumption, and on the efficacy of the tincture of fox-glove in the cure of it, 46, 127. Mentions some very remarkable cases, shewing the operation of a dephlogisticated nitrous gas inhaled, 299.
Bion, some particulars of, 331. Du Bois's translation of his third Idyl, ib. His epitaph, 332.
Black Jack of Athol, traditional story of, 443.
Brown, Mr. instances the efficacious effects of gas oxygen in scrophulous diseases, 77.
Bruce, James, Esq. the celebrated traveller, high character of, in India, Syria, &c. 121, 563. Affirmed never to have been at the Abyssinian source of the Nile, 564. This point candidly discussed, ib.
Butter, vegetable, made of the kernel of the fruit of the shea-tree, 30.

C.

- Camelion, the, Lord Sandwich's account of, 448; Sonnini's, 533.
Campbell, Mr. extract from his "Pleasures of Hope," 260.
Canoes of a singular construction, at Sego, in the kingdom of Bambarra, 27.

INDEX.

Cave of Fingal, dimensions of, as taken by M. St. Fond, 438.
Carbuncle. See Yonge.
Castle, Dover, some curious particulars of, 37.
Catarrh. See Hamilton.
Cathedral of St. Andrews, sketch of its ruins, by M. St. Fond, 439.
Chalmers, Mr. his Supplemental Apology for the Believers in the Shakspeare Papers, criticised and exploded, 205, 310.
Charmes, Pajot des, sets forth the power of oxygenated muriatic acid in discharging every kind of colour from painted or printed goods, 196.
Creeshna, Mr. Maurice's account of, 425. Identified with Osiris, 427; with Cyrus the Great, 428.
Clayfield, Mr. discovers a native sulphate of strontiana, in the neighbourhood of Bristol, 46.
Cold, its beneficial effects in diseases of inflammation, 43.
Consumption, treatise on, and remedy proposed for, by Dr. Beddoes, 127. Cured and relieved by various prescriptions, 44, 46.
Constantinople, described by Lord Sandwich, 444.
Cooke, Mr. See Cow-pox.
Corrosive Sublimate, its efficacy in the cure of gonorrhœa, 42.
Cow-pox, nature of, and when it cannot prevent the infection of the small-pox, 45.
Creaser, Mr. administers, with perfect success, gas oxygen, in an effusion of blood, 44.
Croke, Judge, his wife, encomium on and anecdote of, 149.
Cromwell, Oliver, Bossuet's delineation of his character, 500.
Crowther, Dr. instances consumption cured by different prescriptions, 44.

D.

Danton, character of, 570.
Davy, Mr. H. his two essays on Light, Heat, and Gas Oxygen, abstracted and examined, 40. His system rejected, 41.
Death, what the original import of, 307.
Diet, a full and generous, inducing debility, 43.

Digest of Indian law, particulars relating to its compilation, 6.
Dionysius, the ear of, described by Lord Sandwich, 359.
Diseases, febrile, mercury long prescribed for, in Italy, 45.
Drake, Dr. See Fox-glove.
Dropsy, a singular case of, 46.
 — new prescription for, 46.
Dubrit, the ancient Roman city, (Dover,) account of, 36.

E.

Education, the question as to the superior advantages of a public or domestic, discussed, 129. Character of a son educated at home contrasted with one educated at a public seminary, 131. Exactness of accounts amongst relations and friends, essential to the continuance of frank intimacy, 133.
 — considerations strikingly applicable to female, 147.
Elephant, the, experiments on the power of music over the sensibility of, 199.
Extravagance, interesting observations concerning, 133.

F.

Fables, the first moral which appeared in Europe, possibly of Indian or Ethiopian origin, 13.
Fall of Fyres, described by the Hon. Mrs. Murray, 441.
Female beauty, perfection of, what so esteemed among the Moors, and the ladies' curious method of acquiring it, 25.
Ferguson, Dr. Adam, memoir of the life of, 1.
Ferriar, Dr. See Fox-glove.
Fever, typhous, Dr. Geach's prescription for, 45.
Fowler, Dr. See Fox-glove.
Fox, Mr. W. his description of St. Peter's at Rome, and of Pope Pius VI. 175.
Fox-glove, tincture of, strongly recommended by Dr. Beddoes in consumption, 46, 127.
 — medicinal properties of, as communicated by Dr. Ferriar, Dr. Percival, and Mr. Simmons, 600.

G, Gas,

INDEX.

G.

- Gas, dephlogisticated nitrous. See Beddoes.
Gas Oxygen. See Davy, Brown.
Gases, reports and observations concerning the respiration of, 44.
Geach, Dr. his prescription in typhous fever, 45.
Geddes, Dr. severely censured for his conduct with respect to his translation of the Bible, 58.
Gessner, some particulars of himself and writings, 376.
Gonorrhœa, remedy for, 42.
Gradation, regular, in man and other beings, attempted to be established, 123; refuted, 125.
Grange, Lord, story of his cruelty towards his wife, 443.
H.
Hamilton, Dr. instances the effects of a frosty night in curing a catarrh, 44.
Hammick, Mr. S. communicates Dr. Geach's receipt for typhous fever, 45.
Haweis, Dr. biographical sketch of, 517.
Heat. See Davy.
Herschell, Dr. account of his superb astronomical apparatus, 435.
Hindu ecliptic, origin of the, doubtful, 7.
Hindoes, probability of all their laws and histories being of a date posterior to the introduction of Christianity, 8.
Hypotheca, or Amicable Instruction, some account and specimen of, 12, 13.
Holbach, Baron, proceedings of an infidel club held at his house in Paris, 158.
Homer, Cowper's translation of, estimated with respect to that of Pope, 217.
Hymn to the Night, "extracted from the Vedas, 14.

I. and J.

- Indian law, particulars relating to the compilation of a digest of, 6.
Inflammation, diseases of, cured by cold and cold water, 43.

- Irish Protestants and Romans, review of their comparative property, 540.
Ismail, carnage and devastation at the memorable assault of, 215.
Jacob, Mr. See Cow-pox.
Jones, Sir W. eulogy on his literary abilities, &c. 16. His epitaph, written by himself, 176.

K.

- Kentish, Mr. his success in a new mode of stopping mortification, 43.
Kew Gardens, described by M. St. Fond, 435.
Khosru, the Persian King, distinguished by Sir W. Jones from the Scripture Coresh, 11; this idea criticised, ib.
Kippis, the late Dr. account of, 201.
Klopstock, the German poet, some account of, 376.

L.

- Laharpe, J. F. his parallel between Corneille and Racine, 407.
Languages, whence come those now spoken in Europe, 412. What generally spoken at present in Asia, Africa, and America, 412.
Lasthenia, the death of, 337. Maxims left behind her, 338.
Lavoisier, M. account of, by Mr. Hutchinson, 469.
Light. See Davy.
Lime, sulphurate of, recommended as a substitute for pot-ash in bleaching, 244.
Luke, Dr. his new medical suggestion in certain cases, 46.
Lunar Atmosphere, existence of, evinced by Dr. Herschel's experiments, 345.
Lyre, what anciently made of, 331. Elegance of its form, &c. ib.

M.

- Magara, particular manner of threshing corn there, 361.
Memory, how assisted in the lower orders of society, exemplified, 132.
Mena, the first difficulty of calculating the time of his existence, 7.
Mercury,

INDEX.

Mercury, prescribed for febrile diseases in Italy, 45. An easy cure for the sibbens or yaws, ib.

Mercurial Muriate. See Corrosive Sublimite.

Milner, the Rev. J. remarks and observations on his Ecclesiastical History of Winchester, 261—265.

Milo, isle of, singular fashion in the dress of the women there, 300.

Mineral substances in a coal pit, near Newcastle, order of the, 437.

Moors, their singular ideas of feminine perfection, and curious means by which it is acquired by the ladies, 25.

Mortification, new mode of stopping, 43.

Morchus, some account of, 332. Translation of his epitaph on Bion, ib.

Moses, the most ancient historian, 542.

Mourat Bey, portrait of, 533.

Mycone, the women of this island reputed the most beautiful of all in the Archipelago, 361.

N.

Newton, Sir I. his mean allowance of 20 years to a reign, animadverted upon by Sir W. Jones, 10.

Niger river, its course to the eastward ascertained, 26.

O.

Odeal, account of a Hindu tried by, 121.

Oxygenated muriatic acid. See Smith, Charles.

P.

Pagani, antient opinion of the most enlightened concerning the final destiny of man, 332.

Par, the Rev. Dr. memoirs of his life, 515.

Parasara, the Indian philosopher, Sir W. Jones's conjecture respecting the time when he flourished, 7, 8; controverted, ib.

Park, Mr. is cruelly treated by the Moors whilst a prisoner among them, 25. Remarks their singular ideas of feminine perfection, and curious means had recourse to by the Moorish ladies to acquire it, ib. Effects his escape, and, after extreme painful toil, reaches the kingdom of Bambarra, and ascertains the course of the Niger, the principal object of his research, 26. Describes the capital of Bambarra, and the singular canoes in use there, 27. Is disappointed of an interview with the king, ib.; in great distress, relieved by the extraordinary kindness of a negress and her daughters, 28; their most pathetic song on the occasion, ib. Proceeds to Silla, 29. Is forced to abandon all thoughts of further progress, ib. Arrives, in his return, at Kabba, and describes the shea-tree, from the fruit of which butter is prepared, 30. Some interesting particulars relative to slaves and the slave trade, ib.

Paterson, Dr. describes the nature of the sibbens, or yaws, and points out its cure, 45.

Pearson, the Rev. Mr. proposes the establishment of new college regulations at Cambridge, 305.

Persian empire, duration of the, assigned by Persian chronologers, preposterous, 10.

Phanor, his poetical address to his mistress, 340.

Pharos, the, or Roman watch-tower, at Dover, described, 37.

Poetry, antient, a just translation of into English rhyme impossible, 217. Possibility of literal translations without rhyme being exquisite poetry, 218.

Portuguese Literature, account of, 93.

R.

Rennel, Major, his geographical illustrations of Mr. Park's Travels in Africa extolled, 31.

Revolution, the French, its miseries and horrors delineated, 490.

Richardson, Professor, biographical sketch of, 97.

Robespierre, his epitaph, 572.

Russia, with respect to Britain, a kind of terra incognita prior to the year 1762, now fully possessed of materials for illustrating its present sent state, 321. Mr. Tooke's account of its prodigious extent, its climate, and soil, 322. View of the nations composing its empire, 323; its population, 325; the moderate taxes there, cheap living, &c. 327.

INDEX.

S.

Samcreet history of India, apocryphal, 425.

Sappho's Ode to Venus literally translated into English prose, by Mr. Du Bois, 221. Remarks on the translations of it by Mr. Addison and Mr. Fawkes, &c. 222.

Scott, Mr. suggests new remedies for certain disorders, 46.

Scrophula. See Brown.

Seasons, the, a descriptive poem by Callidas, in Sanscrit, high commendation of, 14.

Sego, the capital of Bambarra, described by Mr. Park, 27.

Seward, Miss, extracts from her Sonnets, with remarks, 65. Analysis of her Translations and Imitations from Horace, 113; Extracts, 253.

Shakespeare, passage in his Merchant of Venice greatly resembling one in Plato, 335. Other instances of resemblance, ib.

Shea-tree, from the fruit of which butter is prepared, account of the, 30.

Sibbens. See Paterson.

Siphilis, nitric acid recommended for, 46.

Slaves, African, interesting particulars relating to, 30.

Smith, Mr. relates that oxygenated muriatic acid affords the best means of whitening bones for anatomical demonstration, 46.

Smith, Mrs. three of her Sonnets quoted, 63.

Sennet, ingenious disquisition on the, 59. Dr. Johnson's idea of its unsuitableness to the English language, 60.

Society for bettering the Condition of the Poor, statement of their trust account for the last seven years, &c. 272.

Stomach, disorders in, new prescription for, 46.

Sugar, considerable quantities made in the vicinity of Friendsmill, New York, from the sugar maple, 561. Process, &c. ib.

Sulphate of Strontiana, discovered to exist naturally in Britain, 46. Chemically examined by Dr. Clayfield, ib.

Sussex Agricultural Society, reward given by them to the industrious poor, 271.

Swallow, Field Marshal General, some account of his domestic habits, 214. Instance of his sensibility, 216.

T.

Theocritus, some account of, 330. His Wounded Cupid, in the original Greek, and Du Bois's English translation, ib.

Theramenet, his song to his mistress after having taken poison, 339.

Thomson, Mr. extracts from his Pictures of Poetry, 290.

Thornton, Mr. See Coru-jax.

Tides, naturally accounted for, 345: St. Pierre's theory of, rejected, ib.

Timber, useful, the propriety and advantages of planting, 478.

Turks, characterised by Lord Sandwich, 445.

V.

Vapours, reports and observations concerning the respiration of, 44.

Veshtnu, exhibited incarnate, &c. 430.

Village Scenery, strikingly exhibited by Mr. Price, 57.

Vine, Mr. G. his account of a woman afflicted with a most extraordinary ague and dropsy, 43.

Voyage, a Missionary, in the ship Duff, account of, 134. Striking extracts, 136. Animadverted upon, 137. Intercourse of the Missionaries with the natives of Otaheite, 138. Curious anecdote of Mr. Harris at S. Christina, 143. Serious observations on the voyage, 145.

Voyage, Spanish, on discovery, some account of, 95.

W.

War, deplorable calamities it produces, 456.

Warburton, Bishop, his denial of the belief of the doctrine of the resurrection before the times of the

INDEX.

- later prophets, and his assertion with respect to the time of the writing of the Book of Job, unwarranted, 307.
- Water*, cold, its beneficial effects in two cases of carbuncle, 43.
- Wilkinson, Jemima*, curious account of, 556.
- Williams, Mr.* his proposal for ventilating Hospitals and Barrack Rooms, 47; animadverted upon, 49. - Strictures on his plan for the education of soldiers' children, 49.
- Women*, the Turkish, interesting account of, by Lord Sandwich, 445.

Y.

Yaws. See Paterson.

Yonge, Mr. successful in the cure of two cases of carbuncle by means of compresses wet with cold water, 43.

Z.

Zimmerman, M. biographical particulars of, 450. Specimens of two translations of his treatise on Solitude, 453. Sum of what he has said on that subject, 454.

